PanOncology Spotlight: Mayagüez Site

As one of the earliest sites established within the PanOncology network, our Mayagüez location has played an important role in expanding access to oncology clinical research and specialized cancer care across western Puerto Rico.

The site is led by Santa Merle, MD, Hematologist-Oncologist, whose expertise and commitment to patient-centered cancer care continue to support innovative treatment opportunities for patients throughout the region.

PanOncology continues to support access to clinical research opportunities for patients with biliary tract cancers, including cholangiocarcinoma and advanced biliary malignancies. Our multidisciplinary team works closely with referring physicians to evaluate potential eligibility and facilitate timely access to investigational therapies when appropriate.
